The Wonders of Color.

A small and simple experiment can be tried by any reader which will go far to convince him or her what a debt we owe to color and what a good thing it is to have sunlight, which enables our eyes to take advantage of the beautiful hues of nature. Make a room quite dark and then burn some carbonate of soda in the flame of a bunsen gas burner. It will burn with an orange yellow light sufficiently strong to illuminate everything in the room, but you will realize with a sudden shock that, bright though the light is, all distinctions of color have vanished. Only light and shade remain. A crimson carnation, a blue violet, a red tablecloth, a yellow blind—all look gray or black or white. The faces of those present look positively repulsive, for all natural color has disappeared.

No other experiment is so well convinced those who have witnessed it how great a loss would be to our sense for color.

Oriental Weddings.

At wedding festivals in Arabia, Persia and Morocco the women guests hold carnival all day, sometimes several days, but the poor little bride is in a room by herself fasting. She is being "decorated." Dupliators and tweezers remove all superfluous hair. She is scrubbed with pumice stone; her toes, fingers and hair are stained with henna, and her face is daubed with red and bits of gold paper. An oriental maiden has no voice in the selection of her husband. She seldom sees him till she is his wife, and he is not supposed to see her face until she unveils after marriage. Sometimes Cupid gets ahead of parents and guardians, the "wind" blows the veil aside, and the young eyes meet. Then there is some anxious maneuvering that the elders may make the right selection.

upon without his consent. When the garters and garners the harvest he stores what in a vast majority of cases no greedily and rapacious landlord can take from him. It is all his. The proceeds of it are to clothe and feed him and his family and educate his children, to be the support of his old age and the heritage of his posterity. Looked at from every point of view, it is doubtful if there is another human being under the heavens who has more cause for carrying a light heart and a contented mind, for regarding the past with satisfaction and the future with hope, than the American farmer.—Kansas City Journal.

The "Just Alike."

Few people perhaps notice that all omnibus wheels are painted yellow, says the London Chronicle, so that any wheel may be worn with any bus color. Every circus ring in the world is of precisely the same diameter, whatever the size of the auditorium, so that the rider knows the angle at which he must lean in St. Petersburg is the angle of safety in St. Petersburg. Even the ladder is "standardized." Every hodman in England knows what he has to step when toiling up the builder's ladder, though he may not know it is seven inches. The sailor who runs up the ratlines has twelve inches as a step, and that makes a run possible, and the fireman's ladder is crossed with exact equivalence to the ratlines.

Death From Electric Shock.

The ultimate cause of death, when due primarily to electric shock, is generally considered to be stoppage of the action of the heart or of the respiratory organs. That the latter may be affected is shown by the fact that victims of electric shock are sometimes brought to by practice of some of the well known methods of artificial respiration. The cessation of the heart's action may be due to stimulation of the nerves which control the beating of the heart. These, when stimulated to excess, may cause the heart to stop altogether.—Archibald Wilson in Cassier's Magazine.

When a beautiful woman smiles some pocketbook is weeping.—Schoolmaster.

HOW HEALTH IS GAINED

The story of a great deal of the unhappiness of women is a story of lost health. Women wonder how it is that little by little the form loses plumpness, the cheeks grow hollow and sallow, and they feel tired and worn-out all the time. A large proportion of cases when women are weak, run-down and falling off in flesh and looks, the root of the trouble can be traced to womanly diseases which undermine the general health. The proof of this is that women who have been cured of painful womanly diseases by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription have recovered their general health, gained in flesh and in appearance.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the womanly diseases which sap the general health. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"I suffered for three years with ovarian trouble," writes Mrs. Anna Quinn (Treasurer Woman's Athletic Club), of 605 Sycamore st., Milwaukee. "We do not use a particle of good, until a good neighbor who had been using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription advised me to give it a trial. The next day took my first dose, and it was my first step toward recovery. In six days I was a different woman; my flesh which had been flabby became firm, complexion clear and my eyes bright. It was simply an indication of the great change within from pain and suffering to health and happiness."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.

BOYCOTTING A NEWSPAPER.

Calaveras Miners' Union. No. 55, W. F. of M. of Angels, has declared a boycott against the Calaveras Prospect, the leading paper of Calaveras county. The boycott is announced through the columns of the Angels Record. The reason for this strange action is set forth in the following statement:

Owing to the repeated efforts of the publication known as the Calaveras Prospect, to defeat the object of the labor union in its campaign for the reduction of the salaries of the toiling masses of this and other counties of the State of California, the Calaveras Miners' Union No. 55, W. F. of M., after due consideration, unanimously declares the Prospect to be an enemy of the labor union, and accordingly established a boycott against the said Prospect, which, it hoped, will prove to be the most formidable and effective.

All members of the Western Federation of Miners who patronize the Calaveras Prospect or the patrons of the Calaveras Prospect, are hereby notified that in doing so they are rendering assistance to corporate greed, to bind the chains of slavery upon unborn generations, which is a direct defiance of the obligations that each and every member of the Federation has taken.

Remember we are fighting a battle for the betterment of the condition of the toiling masses of humanity and every member of the Federation of Miners is expected to do his duty. And while capital sits upon a throne, dictating to the masses the terms under which they shall be allowed to work, and that for mere pittance to secure the necessities and very few of the comforts of life, while the State officials of the various States protect the power of organized greed degenerated into an army of uniformed scoundrels, it is expected that the seafarers which the mighty magnates are importing by the tens of thousands from the shores of Europe, to be allowed to live in the hours and beat the wages of American labor; and while the purchased conviction of such public enemies as the Calaveras Prospect, are permitted to make the human race worshippers at the altar of greed, it is expected that the peace on earth, good will to man, shall never be fulfilled. We therefore request that all sympathizers of organized labor, withdraw their subscriptions and advertisements from the Calaveras Prospect immediately and thus become a real factor in the true labor reform. Yours, Calaveras Miners' Union, Aug. 19, 1903.

W. F. Ryan, President.
W. E. Thompson, J. C. Hammett, J. M. Barry, Aug. 19, 1903.

This is the first instance that has come under our observation wherein the discredited boycott business has been resorted to against a publication because of the expression of sentiments therein which were not in accord with the ideas of the boycotters. According to this proposition, the Angels Union proposes to take a hand not merely in regulating the relations of the mine owners and employees, but in the suppression of free speech and a free press. What a dangerous thing a little new-found authority is apt to become in inexperienced hands.

What is this Angels organization thinking about? Do they imagine for a moment that by inaugurating a war against the liberty of the press they are going to help the cause of trade unionism? If the Prospect has said aught in its columns against their order that is unjust or untrue, have they not sufficient faith in the intelligence of American citizens, and in the integrity of human nature generally, to know that it will fall powerless. Is this a notice to the press that any paper that dares to publish any article that does not pass the ordeal of their censorship will fall under the ban of their organization. Is this Americanism according to the standard of the Western Federation. We believe the head officers of that order, as soon as they find out what has been done, will have sufficient sense to call a halt on this over-zealous subordinate union. We venture to say, this unwise action will help rather than injure the Prospect. It behooves every right-minded citizen of Calaveras county to uphold the freedom of the press against this unwarrantable assault. In behalf of the press of the entire state the duty has been laid upon the Prospect of carrying this matter into the courts by a suit for damages or injunction against the Union. In the face of such outrages upon free institutions it is high time that unions were made to understand that the American government is stronger than the Western Federation—stronger to protect the citizen in the enjoyment of his property than any combination of men is to deprive him of his rights. Be of good courage brother Prospect. We mistake the temper of the press and the people if this unprecedented use of the boycott does not redound greatly to your advantage.

WHAT IT MEANS.

As every effort has been, and is still being made to befool the people as to the issues involved in the justice's salary suit now pending before the courts, we deem it not out of place to present the matter fairly before our readers. Much has been said about the hardship which an appeal of the case to the supreme court must necessarily entail upon justices and constables throughout the county by the long period that must elapse before a final determination can be reached. The Ledger has no desire to make light of this side of this case, and is in favor of reducing the inconvenience to the minimum by any means that will not involve a sacrifice of the principle at stake, or the substantial rights of the parties in interest. Responsibility for this hardship rests, not with those who now want the issue pressed to a finality, but rather with the legislators who "butted in" notwithstanding the serious obstacles interposed by the constitution to the validity of their measures. Moreover, the avidity with which the officials concerned sought to shuffle out of the fee system under which they were elected, and range themselves under the salary law, which was never dreamed of when they entered into a contract to serve the county, tends to show that they are not altogether blameless for the existing state of middle.

The issue is not merely whether the justices and constables of Amador county shall be paid salaries in stead of fees. Even from this contracted standpoint the question is sufficiently serious to demand a settlement by the higher court. But the matter takes a far wider sweep than Amador county. Our state constitution forbids any increase of compensation of county or township officers during the term for which they were elected. The point in issue is whether this provision has a vital significance, or whether it is a dead letter. The supreme court has decided that the salaries of officials may be changed from salary to fees or fees to salary without violating the constitution. But the question has never yet been passed upon by that tribunal whether a change from fees to salaries involving a ten-fold raise in compensation of the officials concerned, is in consonance with the constitutional prohibition. We do not propose to discuss the decision of Judge Rust. If it is a correct interpretation of the constitution, it is all-important that the fact should be known. The evidence of the fees earned for services in criminal cases for the first three months of the present term indicated that the increase of compensation under the new salary bill would amount to more than ten times the compensation under the old fee system. Now, if this interpretation is correct, what is there to prevent the legislature from changing the method of paying other county officers so as to effect a like ten-fold increase of compensation? How would the taxpayers like to meet the system? It is attempted to be established with reference to township officers, if the same were applied to all county officials? It would mean little short of confiscation. The conclusion is irresistible that if the interpretation is valid in the one case, it would be equally so in the other. Hence the urgency of having the question settled definitely. If our constitution is so weak on this proposition, the people want to know it, so that it may be made operative, where it is now nothing but a rope of sand.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Thomas returned Monday, after spending a week in Sacramento.

A crowd of young people were delightfully entertained at a lawn party given by Miss Marjorie Hinkson, assisted by Mrs. F. N. Staples, at her home on Wednesday evening. The lawn was gayly festooned with bright Japanese lanterns, and these with the light dainty dresses of the ladies presented an almost fairy-like appearance. The fair young hostess showed herself an adept in the art of entertaining, as lively and interesting games were played, and the amusement of her guests kept them the whole evening. The refreshments were served at dainty tete-a-tete tables all over the lawn. As the evening began to wane we were invited into the hospitable home of our young hostess, where a host of good things had been prepared for the inner and outer man. The floral decorations consisted of myriads of blooms everywhere, with the graceful, clinging ivy festooned over pictures, curtains and arch-ways. At a late hour we bade each other good-night, hoping that our hostess would bestow our good fortune to attend an event at this most hospitable home. The list of invited guests were: Rev. and Mrs. G. M. Richmond, Dr. and Mrs. P. N. Staples, Mr. and Mrs. Jno. B. Tregloan, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Fredenrick, Mr. and Mrs. O. Wrigglesworth, Mr. and Mrs. I. ## From The Absent.

FLINT RANCH, Sacramento, Cal.
We arrived here safely about noon on the 15th of August. The proprietor received us very cordially and made us feel at home immediately. We pitched our tents beneath the friendly shade of a group of giant cotton-wood trees, between fields of fragrant hops, of artichoke and corn. We spent the rest of the day in making our camp comfortable and home-like. In the evening the young folks serenaded the neighboring camps. We arose next morning after a refreshing night's slumber. After breakfast we took a pleasant morning walk to visit our native neighbors a mile below us at Mr. Bowman's hop fields. We spent the afternoon of the Sabbath in quietness. In the evening we formed a merry party, leaving camps Good, Better and Best in charge of Mr. and Mrs. G. Smith and baby, and started out to see the noted big bridge which spans the Cosumnes river. After tiring of racing to and fro across the giant structure the young folks of the party decided to take a stroll upon the sands of the river on the Sacramento side, while the remainder of the party, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. McCormick, son Clifton, and Mrs. W. Robinson, decided that they would return by the way they came. After trying of the frolic upon the sands, the young folks strolled farther and farther down the river, looking vainly for a place narrow enough to allow them to cross and return to camp. In fact, alas, that place could not be found. The current was growing late, the most dignified gentleman of the crowd, Mr. Mart Robinson, seated himself upon the sands, and after hurriedly removing his shoes and stockings, and despite the laughing protests and shrieks of the young ladies, he bravely forded the on-going current and deposited his precious freight safely, high and dry, on the opposite side. The first one to cross was Clifton, the youngest of the party, and he was followed by the others on the safe side. Miss Mary Smith next mounted the broad shoulders and rode safely across. Then tenderly lifted Miss Zadia Newell up and very slowly wended his way across and tenderly placed her with the others on the safe side. Under Treatment in the City.

Alphonse Marre, of the firm of Marre Bros., went to San Francisco last Monday. He has not been feeling well for some time, but was able to attend to business. As he did not seem to regain strength, he concluded to go to the city, and upon examination by his doctor there was told he was suffering from appendicitis, and that an operation was necessary. He went to the German hospital, where the operation was to be performed this morning. Henry and Joe Marre left for the city yesterday morning to minister to his wants during his sickness. His many friends will deeply regret to hear of his critical illness, and sincerely hope for his speedy restoration to health, and his return to his prominent place in business affairs.

CAMP OPRA.

CAMP OPRA, Aug. 12.—B. F. Horton accompanied his cousin, Mrs. C. W. Howell, to San Francisco last week. Mrs. Howell expects to return to her home in Burlington soon.

J. Q. Horton, Mrs. R. E. Horton, Gerald T., Vincent, Edward, and Irene Horton drove to Stockton last Saturday to pay a flying visit to Mrs. Horton's parents. They found the grain crop only about one third of the expected, and almost no hay at all.

The hay dealers are paying the farmers ($13) thirteen dollars per ton for hay on the farms, while in other years they paid $18 and $8 for hay delivered in their warehouses in Stockton. All the stock in San Joaquin county are newly planted orchards and vineyards. On all sides you see cottages in course of construction.

Where two years ago were great grain farms, now cut up into tracts of from one to twenty acres, and each tract is a garden spot supporting a well contented family. Within the past year over a million dollars has been invested in real estate around Stockton, by capitalists and farmers.

And all, or nearly all, through the efforts of the chamber of commerce. Why does not Amador let her boundless possibilities be known? The fruit canneries in Stockton are short three hundred tons, girls and boys, and they now have six hundred a day according to age and ability, but have to ship 4 of their fruit to other canneries of the association for canning because of lack of workers. The fruit industry is crowding the dairy business farther and farther from the town, and as effect always follows cause, Amador stock men might well build creameries to supply the demand for first-class butter.

While business continues somewhat slow in Jackson, there is not lacking encouraging signs. There are few new houses in town, the number having materially decreased within the few weeks. People are coming to town, the population is picking up, it is hoped that this is the forerunner of a revival all along the line, the basis of all business is confidence. There is confidence in the future, confidence is lacking it is used to look for improved business conditions. Signs of returning confidence are not lacking. Let us hope that everything will be done to foster this state of business activity.

UNION VS. UNION.

Western Federation of Miners and American Federation of Labor at Odds

The friction between the Western Federation of Miners and the Engineers and Mechanics Union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, reached an open rupture this week at the Keystone mine. The Keystone, more than any other mine on the mother lode in this county, has sided with the W. F. M. The other mine owners decline to discriminate in any way either for or against an employee on account of belonging to either union or keeping aloof from both unions. Wednesday night a meeting of the local union of W. F. M. was held at Amador City. This union posted notices some time ago calling upon all working in or about the mines of the district to join the union by a certain date, under penalty of being treated as scabs. The date for doing the action was postponed until the 18th. That night the members mustered in force. Nearly all those employed underground at the Keystone, Bunker Hill and Fremont are members of the W. F. M., but the engineers have affiliated with the American Federation. What was done at the secret session of Western Federation men we are not prepared to say. It is common report, however, that a proposition to declare a general strike in order to force the mine owners to accept the demands of the union was made. Thereafter, it is said, another meeting was held at a late hour, at which it was determined that the Keystone employees would refuse to go to work unless the union was discharged. It was a move to force the engineers into the Western Federation or out of their jobs. J. M. McDonald, the owner, was communicated with, and is reported to have said he would run his mine. This meant that he would not oppose the demands of the miners concerning the engineers. Consequently engineers Wrigglesworth, Gray and Tretheway, were compelled to leave the mine, and the Western Federation.

A meeting of the engineers' union of the American Federation was held in Sutter Creek last night. We understand that a committee was appointed to wait upon the owners of the mine to ascertain what course would be pursued in case a similar demand is made upon them as was made in the case of the Keystone.

Business Under Difficulties.

J. H. Thrasher is in trouble. His business is hauling, and much of it consists in taking rubbish from places in town and dumping it out at some place where it will do no harm. As there is no public dumping place at the present time, the vexed question is to find one with a reasonable distance. Last Monday he took a load to a point on the south fork of Jackson creek, which had served as a dump. He had no sooner got the stuff off his wagon, than objections were raised by near-by residents. He thereupon piled it on his wagon a second time, and brought it back to town, and the whole of the evening he was worrying what he was going to do with it. He says he don't like to be sneaking around at a dead hour of night to discharge his cargo while no one is around to object. He can't afford to keep it on his wagon. He is afraid to dump it in the creek, lest he be hauled up for violation of a county ordinance. He can't dump it in the air in the shape of smoke, for it won't burn, and moreover if he tried he would run up against another ordinance which prohibits fires in the streets of the town. He says he can't let it, so what in thunder is he to do with it. Must he demand that everyone needing his services must first provide a dumping place before loading his wagon, or must he go out of business. Will some one kindly help him out of this dilemma.

Uniform Rank Ball.

The ball given last Friday evening by the Uniform Rank, K. of P., was successfully carried out in every respect. The first military drill by the newly organized company was a feature of the occasion. The members were arrayed in their handsome uniforms, and executed the evolutions in a manner that commanded universal approval. The hall was crowded with dancers and spectators. A first-class orchestra from Stockton furnished the music. The supper was served at the Union House, over 100 guests being regaled on the occasion. It was not expected that the financial outcome would increase the funds of the order materially. The members were satisfied if the receipts offset the expenses. We are informed that, while all the tickets are not yet called in, a small balance is likely to remain in the treasury as the result of the ball. Another ball is slated off, to be given on Thanksgiving evening, under the auspices of the same organization. Nothing definite, however, has been decided upon as yet.

A Mistake.

In the Ledger of Aug. 7, a correspondent writing from Aukum stated that a fire was started by Sheriff Norman, Dr. Norman, E. Kay and county officers who had to dump for the purpose of burning the brush, and starting the convicts supposed to be in hiding there, and that the only result of the fire was the destruction of half a mile of Chas. Perry's fence. Sheriff Norman says this report is not correct. His posse did not pass within five miles of Perry's place, and no fire was started at any point for the purpose of starting the convicts. If a fire was started, it was done by other parties, and not by Sheriff Norman's men. We are pleased to make this explanation.

Progressive Hearts.

Hearts, not "two hearts that beat as one," but progressive hearts, was in order last Wednesday evening, when Miss Ethyl Green entertained a party of her young friends at the home of her parents on Nob hill. This popular game was enjoyed until nearly midnight, when daily refreshments, adding much to the evening's pleasure, were served; and the guests, after expressing many thanks for the hospitality extended, departed for their respective homes.

Struck With a Rock.

Web Smith and Frank Mitchell were injured by falling rock in the Kennedy mine last Saturday. They were engaged in securing a place that was known to be unsafe, and while so employed some rock fell, one piece striking Smith on the hip, and a smaller rock hitting Mitchell on the head. The men had to call in the services of Dr. Call. Mitchell's injuries proved to be but slight, and he has been able to resume his work. Smith, however, is still very lame, although mending steadily. It will be several days before he will be able to report for duty.

A game of baseball was played last Sunday on the Jackson ground between the Jackson Italians and the Ranch Italians. Two Jackson boys won with a score of 19 to 16.

SHERIFF NORMAN AND THE CONVICTS

The True History of How the Amador Posse Figured in the Chase of the Outlaws.

The true account of the part played by the Amador county posse, headed by Sheriff Norman and deputy sheriff Jackson, has never been given to the public. The daily papers, through their special correspondents, sent garbled accounts of the movements from day to day. These reports were mainly drawn from their own imagination, or obtained from any one met with who might volunteer information, picked up from doubtful sources on the road. Sheriff Norman made it a point, during the whole time he and his men were out, to keep his own counsel; to tell nothing about his movements, or his plan of operations, or anything in fact that might be of advantage to the outlaws if communicated to them. For this reason he was not a favorite with the special reporters representing the daily press. They were on the hunt for news, and did not care how they obtained it, or what effect the publication thereof might have—favorable to the fugitives, or unfavorable to the pursuers. On the other hand, Norman and his men were man-hunting, and did not propose to subordinate their perilous business to news-gatherers hunting a scoop. This diversity of interest explains much of what has appeared in print tending to place Norman's efforts in a false light before the public.

On August 1 the sheriff on receiving information that escaped convicts were headed toward Amador county, started for Plymouth with deputies Jackson and Kay for Buck's bar in El Dorado county. Reaching Plymouth Sheriff Bosquit of El Dorado was telephoned to and that official asked the Amador officers to proceed to Buck's bar, and that officers from El Dorado would meet them there the next day. The Amador men reached that point on the 2d and stayed there that and the following day, and no one appeared from the El Dorado side. It was there reported to Norman that the convicts had broken into and robbed the cabin of Heasley, and they struck out for that point on foot—one mile distance. The officers went over the ground of battle at Grand Victory mine.

On the 4th instant they returned to Jackson and made arrangements for a systematic hunt of the outlaws. Two wagons were secured, both with three seats, affording room to take 12 men, which was the number comprising the posse, well stocked with provisions, blankets, etc.; also two saddle horses for the use of scouts, who during the expedition were sent ahead to trace the convicts. They were unarmed and dressed as cattlemen on the lookout for stock. This was adopted for the safety of these men, as the escapes were not likely to shoot unarmed men. If they were attacked they were instructed to surrender. A white handkerchief tied around the neck was the badge used to distinguish the members of the Amador posse. The expedition reached Plymouth on the evening of the 4th. Here was the first misunderstanding with the newspaper men. A reporter for the Examiner wanted the men to pose for a snap shot with his camera. Norman told him they had no time to waste over such matters; that when they came back they could accommodate these artists. The drivers were told to drive on, which they did, making Lockwood's station the same night, arriving there between 12 and 1 o'clock.

August 5—Arrived at Wiley's station. Six men were sent across to the north fork of the Cosumnes river on foot. Another part of the posse was stationed at the shingle mill, about a mile from Wiley's station. The men remained at these points until night, guarding these entrances to Amador territory.

August 6—Nothing being heard of the convicts, it was determined to break camp at that point, and transfer the base of operations into El Dorado county. There were three reporters at Wiley's—one each for the Examiner, Call and Chronicle. These men were told by Mr. Norman that it was necessary to keep his movements secret; that they could not be allowed to accompany the posse or the wagons. If anything important occurred, he would dispatch a courier to Wiley's to keep them posted, but he would not permit them in the camp. One newspaper man was inclined to follow notwithstanding this injunction, whereupon he was told that if he persisted he would clap the handcuffs upon him if necessary. This settled the matter, and the reporters stayed behind, and picked up news, trustworthy or otherwise, as they best could. The teams were hitched up and driven across the country to Pi Pi, a distance of nine miles across the El Dorado line. The route was over the roughest kind of country—no road at all. Trees, rocks, brush, and gulches were encountered, the members of the posse, except the two drivers, traveling the entire distance on foot. Arriving at Pi Pi, pretty well exhausted, stationed men up and down the river, and on the side hill at commanding points. All the men were on picket duty, except two left with the wagons to attend to the horses and prepare the food. Remained there until afternoon of the 7th. The El Dorado man-hunters were conspicuous by their absence. Word was brought in by a man on horseback that a cabin near Grizzly Flat had been entered by convicts and robbed, and they moved to that point. Here they met three trailers of Sheriff Bosquit's posse, Wyatt, Colvin and another, who informed them that the escapes were making toward Leek's. The El Dorado men were without outfit of provisions or conveyance, or organization of any kind. Norman had one of his own men to take the trailers in a wagon to Hungerford's mill, while he with the rest started for Leek Spring mountain.

The trailer operating with Norman took the trail alone, and met Norman at Myers' station in Alpine county. He had tracked two men, he said, to the head of Lake valley. He was tired out, and stated that he did not think it was any use to track them any further on foot. He was unable to find which direction they had taken. Thereupon the Amador officials struck out for home. They did not feel like hunting the fugitives over that limitless country, far beyond the Amador borders, alone. On the night of the 12th they reached Strawberry valley, and on the 13th arrived at Placerville on their homeward journey. Here they met deputy sheriff Cook and the other members of the El Dorado posse from whom they had parted company at Kirkwood's, and learned that they had beaten them homeward two days. On the 14th Sheriff Norman and Jackson returned to Jackson, Packard being left in Plymouth, and Haller going to his home in Ione. They were out 14 days, and kept the field two full days after the other man-hunters had quit.

The convicts were never sighted by the trailers or the regular posse at any time on the trip. It is quite probable that the Amador men were in view of the convicts at different points on the route, but if so they kept out of view, and did nothing to make their presence known. Norman is out about $300 by the trip, which he proposes to bear himself, unless the legislature reimburses him. The talk about seing the convicts half a mile off is nonsense. With the crack shots that composed the Amador posse, there would have been something going on if such were the facts. Norman and his men were in the lead nearly the whole of the time that they were out. A report comes from Rufus' station in Alpine county that the five convicts visited their cabin on the 13th or 14th, and looted it. They said that from a mountain summit they saw Norman's posse in plain view, supposed to be after them and debated whether to open country after crossing the summit.

These are the facts. It would look infinitely better for the "white feather" critic whose plume moved him to show his "colors" through the columns of our contemporary instead of shooting paper wads at the men who went to the front, he had joined the posse of man-hunters, and shown what he could do by bringing the Folsom gang of thieves back to captivity. ## Failed to Record Certificate.

A. Weil of Amador was in Jackson Tuesday to see about his title. The list of property deeded to the state as published in the Ledger last week contained his property in Amador. This brought him over to look into it. He contended that he had redeemed the property some years ago, and therefore the state had no right to a deed. He did not have the certificate of redemption, as that had been destroyed by fire some time back. An investigation showed that he had redeemed, but that he had failed to record the certificate of redemption. The matter was soon straightened out by the issuance of a duplicate certificate, which was forthwith recorded, thereby making the record title perfect. Weil went home thoroughly satisfied with the outcome. No doubt much property sold to the state is in the same fix, the redemptioners merely failing to record their certificates. They are not absolutely required to do so, but the redemption certificate must be recorded in order to cancel the sale to the state.

Big Forge Work.

Garbarini Bros. are now engaged in the heaviest forge work that has been done in Jackson. It consists in making the iron work for the new ships to be used with the new hoist at the Kennedy. There are four of them to be made. It is necessary that they be of wrought iron. The best Norway iron is being used in their manufacture. Cast iron would be cheaper, but its liability to break under the jar that it would be subject to is the great objection. The Garbarini shop is getting quite a reputation for all classes of work in the iron line. They are doing a rushing and steadily increasing business.

Phone us for ice cream for your Sunday dinner. We will deliver it on short notice. Penny & Moon.
